Binding conditions for image and sound recordings

Unless they are for private use only, image and sound recordings of the WPA XVII WORLD CONGRESS OF PSYCHIATRY 2017 require prior written permission from the DGPPN Press Office. The application for permission must reach the Press Office at least 24 hours before the filming date. The permission does not include the courses offered as part of the educational programme.

Image and sound recordings of the exhibition and industry symposia require additional prior permission from the sponsoring company. An overview of the sponsoring companies can be found at www.wpaberlin2017.com.

The permission is only valid for the purpose requested. Every transfer of footage to third parties and every alternative use of footage requires prior permission from the DGPPN.

— Image and sound recordings must be performed in a way that does not disturb the course of congress events, for example through the use of spotlights or cables.

The personal rights of speakers, congress participants and staff must be preserved when filming and taking photographs.

The applicant must ensure sufficient safeguards for the recordings. He or she is liable for possible personal injury or property damage to the DGPPN or one of the partners involved in the congress that arise in connection with the recordings.

— Before any recordings are published, the DGPPN Press Office must be informed in a timely fashion by sending an email to pressestelle@dgppn.de.

The permission to film is to be carried while working on site at the congress and presented upon request.
